THE DANGER OF BEAUTY.

I never read the papers without feeling so content that both my eyes are twisted and my nose is slightly bent. I'm glad my mouth is out of line and that my teeth are few. And if I had a "wealth of hair" I don't know what I'd do.

A "tiny foot" or "lily hand" would fill me with dismay. And if I had a slender waist I'd sicken in a day. For I have noticed from the first, as strange as it may seem, The girl who gets the worst of it is "lovely as a dream."

The papers never tell about a woman being shot, Or mangled by a trolley car, or married to a sot, Or forced at point of pistol her last fifty cents to lose. But that her eyes are "limpid" and her boots are number twos.

So I can live in sweet content, without the slightest fear That trouble or calamity will ever hover near. And when I see my misfit face it's some relief to know That I'll outlive the beauties by a hundred years or so!

—Brooklyn Life.

MAKE THE MEN MARKET.

A Woman Writer's Bold Suggestion to Help Weary Wives.

There are few things that exhaust a woman more than a day's shopping. The average man looks upon a woman's "purchasing day" as one of pleasure, but when he accompanies her on one of these shopping expeditions he goes home, after his patience has been all exhausted, with a different belief. He learns, too, that a woman can endure vexations and disappointments with much more equanimity than he can, and he mentally vows never to do it again.

The number of miles traversed is really what tires one, and it is little wonder that the woman who does the shopping for herself and her entire family, as well as the marketing and the bargaining with the "butcher and baker and candlestick maker," should feel the need of rest for her tired nerves. The man of the house should always do the marketing. In the old days, when the butler was not the stately personage he is now, women were never troubled with the worries of household purchasing, for the head of the house did the entire buying, and "James" carried the parcels and was not ashamed to do it.

No mother who has the care of little children should give the precious morning hours to anything else but the nursery, nor should she let butchers' and grocers' boys call for and deliver orders, because there is sure to be dissatisfaction if she does. Some wealthy families allow their chef to take charge of the household, and he collects a large percentage from the tradesmen, which, of course, is added to the monthly bill. Reputable storekeepers will not do this kind of business, however, and the chef "patronage" is controlled entirely by a few men. On the whole, it is much more satisfactory for the man of the house to do the marketing. He will get the best meat, have his orders promptly attended to and save about 25 per cent in the transaction, as well as the health of his wife.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Geological Deductions.
Geology was once defined by Lord Salisbury as "the science of the what might have been." Some American geologists prefer to regard it as the science of the what may be. Pictures have often been drawn of the destruction of Toronto and the devastation of southern Ontario and Quebec by a flood let loose when the great lakes are emptied owing to the continued recession of Niagara falls.

Professor G. K. Gilbert now tells us that long before this disaster is due Niagara will have been destroyed by other processes. Some slow changes of level are now taking place over the whole lake region. The eastern outlet will be closed and the lakes drained by discharging from the southern end of Lake Michigan into the basin of the Mississippi. The change in the river system will begin in about 1,000 years' time. The evidence adduced by Professor Gilbert in support of this prophecy is of great interest, although only his preliminary report has yet been published.—Spectator.

A Ticklish Question.
G. M. writes to The Journal: "Should you say, 'I made him cough $5,' or 'I made him cough up $5?'"

This is a ticklish question. Unfortunately the slang dictionaries, even Farmer and Henley's, do not know the slang phrase. Nor is there any allusion to it in the great Oxford dictionary. Three centuries ago there was a phrase "to cough (any one) a daw, fool, mome," meaning "to make a fool of," also "to prove oneself a fool," but this "cough" may have been the obsolete verb "cough" or "coff," to purchase, acquire, get. And five centuries ago "to cough" also meant "to utter," "to disclose," as in this sentence, "To make her confess the things testified against her, and also to cough out the rest."

We do not find anywhere allusion to this modern slang. We ourselves regard "cough up" as the proper expression, and we use it when we are moving in the first and gilded circles.—Boston Journal.

Compensating Advantages.
Ferry—That isn't much of a tailor you are patronizing now.

Hargreaves—I know he isn't much of a fitter, but he is so shortighted he can't recognize a man ten feet away.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The rifle was introduced into the British service about the beginning of the present century. They were of such primitive make that musketeers were served out with each rifle to ram the bullets home.

Before 1888 the average number of labor strikes of all kinds in this country was about 500 a year. Since that date the average has been 1,500.

Figures Scribbled by a Schoolboy Finally Brought Fortune.

"My brother William, who died a few years ago," said Colonel Andrew Freeman the other night, "from his boyhood days had a curious habit of scribbling on every piece of blank paper he picked up."

"When he was first able to form figures with a pen or pencil, he would trace the meaningless number '15,174' on everything that had a blank space of sufficient size. On the whitewashed walls of the little old red schoolhouse down in my home county in the Pennsylvania that boy wrote '15,174' ten thousand times or more."

"On the fly leaf of his textbooks, on the margins of the newspapers my father was a subscriber for, on the envelopes and on the unused bits of papers in all of the letters that came to our house he traced those figures in every idle moment without being able to tell why he did so. My father gave the lad some pretty severe thrashings and countless reprimands for indulging in the senseless habit, but Will never stopped it for a day."

"When I was 27 and Will was 23, I told him one day that I was going to play the numbers he was so devoted to in the Louisiana lottery and if I drew anything I would divide up with him. I had been throwing away a dollar in the gift enterprise for five or six years and had never drawn a cent. I didn't get the number I wanted that month, but the next month I got two tenth tickets, number 15,174, and I struck the $10,000 capital prize. Will got one-half of the cash, and till the day of his death, eight years ago, never quit talking about the luck his hobby brought me. It was the most remarkable incident in my life and the most notable occurrence in the history of our family."—Louisville Post.

The Price of Liberty.

The white-headed old darky approaching one of the northern congressmen at the foot of the capitol steps, removed his hat and said: "Ize cum all de way fum Nottoway county, cap'n, to see 'bout yo' kin do fur me. I paid $2,700 fur my liberty, en ain' heerd nuthin fum de promises o' de gubberment."

"You mean to say, uncle, that you bought your liberty?" the congressman asked in surprise, thinking to humor the old man.

"It's a fac', cap'n, en twenty-seben hundred wuz de price."

"I thought 'eternal vigilance was the price of liberty, uncle?"

Scratching his head for an understanding, the ex-slave replied doubtfully, "Waal, cap'n, dat mout be de onsa wid de white folks, but de pooh nigger has ter pay cash."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

He Had Traveled.

"Now," said the intrepid explorer after he had shown the guinean native the inside workings of the brass watch and had noted his naive wonder at the mysteries of the mechanism, "I will let you have one of these for two tasks. Then you can be the envy of the tribe."

The native gentleman yawned. Then he said:

"I exchanged a secondhand war club for a bushel of those things when I was in London last summer, and there was not one of them that went for more than a week."—Pearson's Weekly.

Resolved, That the people of the Island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent."

EVIDENTLY AN OVERSIGHT OF MR. DINGLEY.

The War Revenue law makes it the duty of every railroad or steamboat company, carrier, express company, or corporation or person whose occupation is to act as such, to issue to the shipper or consignee, or his agent, or person from whom any goods are accepted for transportation, a bill of lading, manifest, or other evidence of receipt and forwarding for each shipment received for carriage and transportation, whether in bulk or in boxes, bales, packages, bundles, or not so inclosed or included; and to have duly attached and canceled, as in the act provided, to each of said bills of lading, manifest, or other memorandum, and to each duplicate thereof, a stamp of the value of one cent. The penalty for failure to comply with this provision of the law is fifty dollars for each offense.

The express companies throughout the United States required the shippers to pay for the stamp. This caused general dissatisfaction and proceedings were commenced by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association before Judge Tuley of the Circuit Court at Chicago to determine whether the shippers or the express companies should attach the stamp to the bill of lading. The court granted the Manufacturers' Association a writ of mandamus compelling the Express Company to accept packages for shipment without the payment of one cent in excess of the regular rate. The court held that it was not within the domain of the shipper to issue the bill of lading and the law expressly provides that the person issuing the receipt shall affix the stamp to the same.

The case will be appealed by the Express Company, as it is estimated that the sum which the Express companies will have to pay, if the decision of the Circuit Court is sustained, will amount to about $3,000,000 annually. Of course all the express companies in the United States will unite in contesting the decision, and doubtless, will take the case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The act makes it the duty of persons or companies owning telephone lines to pay to the collector of internal revenue monthly one cent for each message or conversation transmitted over the line for which a charge of fifteen cents or more was imposed, but in the case of telegraphic dispatches it simply says "any dispatch or message, one cent." The telegraph company compels the sender of a message to affix the stamp, though the law does not say that the person who pays for the message shall affix the stamp.

The telegraph company stood much higher in the estimation of Mr. Reed's Congress than the telephone company, as the law compels the latter to pay for the stamp which has to be affixed to each message.

In nearly every case, the public, not the rich corporations, have to pay the war revenue and it seems to have been an oversight on the part of the framers of the bill that shippers, not forwarding companies, are not obliged to pay for the stamps on bills of lading. The forwarding companies evidently expected that they would not have to pay for the stamps, and will not do so until compelled to by the courts.

Mr. Dingley, it seems, made one mistake in favor of the people, through in-advertence of course, for which he may have to answer to the man in politics.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH THE PHILIPPINES?

The President is said to be desirous to know public opinion as to what should be done with the Philippines.
People who have ideas on the subject should give them expression in the public press. The habitable islands of the Philippine group are said to be densely populated. The inhabitants are Malays and Chinese. These would not make desirable citizens and we do not want to revive slavery in any territory over which the American flag floats. The people of the Philippines if the islands were annexed, would have to be given the rights of citizens unless we abandoned the principles of the Declaration of American Independence.

Besides this we should not renounce the Monroe Doctrine. We resent any attempt on the part of European nations to acquire territory by conquest on the American continent. If we hold the Philippines permanently we must abandon the Monroe Doctrine, as we would acquire territory by conquest in another continent.

We should teach Spain a lesson by holding the Philippines and collecting the revenue of the islands until we are indemnified for the destruction of the Alma and 286 men of her crew by the Spaniards, and such a large indemnity for war expenses are paid, but no longer. We do not want $500,- 000 Asiatics made American citizens; nor do we want that many serfs made a part of our population.

CONDENSED WAR NOTES.

Public men who talked with the President and members of the Cabinet yesterday positively assert that the administration has confidence in the sincerity of the Spanish note, and is practically certain that the terms of peace proposed by this Government will be accepted.

The War Department would not be surprised if Manila has surrendered to Dewey, but has no information. The Madrid reports that Manila has surrendered it is believed may be due to knowledge that Spain has authorized Captain General Augusti to yield up the city.

The answer to the Spanish note to be communicated by this Government as made up for submission to the Cabinet makes the following terms:

The absolute cession of Porto Rico, relinquishment of Spanish sovereignty in Cuba, the cession of several small islands adjacent to Cuba and Porto Rico to the United States, leaving the disposition of the Philippines and other islands in that quarter to future negotiations.

The present aim, it is stated, is to establish a coaling station in the Philippines with fully adequate land area, and to build up an American city, possibly at Manila itself.

It is understood that the Spanish transports Isla-del-Pla and Isla-del-Fuzon, will sail for Santiago immediately to embark the prisoners of war.

Horatio S. Ruben, counsel for the Cuba Junta, says: "The reason that Spain makes peace proposals now is that Havana cannot hold out much longer."

"The food supply is sufficient for only about two weeks and only two steamers with provisions have succeeded in running the blockade. In Havana there are 200,000 civilians and fifty or sixty thousand soldiers. They also know, in Madrid, that Porto Rico cannot hold out against General Miles and that the fall of Manila is only a question of days."

General Shafter has received advice that two Spanish transports, one a hospital ship, have left the island of Martinique, three have left Cadiz and four more will leave Cadiz. These vessels are capable of carrying 15,000 troops.

The Cabinet discussed the President's answer to Spain's peace proposals and reached the following conclusions:

The absolute surrender of Porto Rico to the United States.
Recognition of the independence of Cuba.

Cession of one of the Ladrones Islands as a coaling station and at least a coaling station in the Philippines. The question of the disposition of the Philippines as a whole, is left undecided.

Our answer makes no mention of money indemnity.

The message from Spain, it is stated, was very adroit and an equivocal document implying that the only question involved was Cuba.

The Cabinet further decided that Spanish sovereignty must be utterly removed from the West Indies and Caribbean waters.

It is believed that General Merritt has arrived at Manila. He started on June 29th and has had time to make the voyage.

The Port of Ponce surrendered to Commander Davis of the Dixie Thursday. There was no resistance, and the Americans were welcomed with enthusiasm. The town, three miles inland, capitulated yesterday.

The roads are good, our troops are healthy and General Miles says the campaign will be short and vigorous.

tain W. H. ("Bank") Smith, the old-
